Al Rostamani Communications awarded ISO 9001:2015 Quality Management System Certification

1st July, 2019- Dubai, United Arab Emirates: Al Rostamani Communications LLC (ARC), a leading IT & Telecommunication solutions provider and systems integrator, offering innovative, integrated technology solutions and professional services announced that it has been awarded the ISO 9001:2015 certification. Achievement of this certification shows ARC's commitment to client satisfaction, high quality, and continuous improvement.

ISO 9001 is a quality management system standard that was developed by the International Organization for Standardization, an association of governmental and nongovernmental organizations from many countries. The ISO 9001 standard is utilized to certify quality management systems that focus on continuous improvement, client satisfaction and the active involvement of both management and employees in a process based approach.

On receiving the quality certification, Youssef Fawaz, General Manager, Al Rostamani Communications said “We are excited to be awarded with the certification ISO 9001:2015. This certainly provides additional assurance to our clients that we are focused on continuous improvement, innovation and quality client satisfaction. We don’t just talk about quality, we live by it every day. We will continue to do everything we can to provide the support to all of our clients in the future.”

“Al Rostamani Communications is one of the leading integrated systems provider and we are working towards a digital transformation journey bringing together all IT applications under the company’s IT Landscape. This certification signifies our commitment to excellent business practices and the highest quality services that meet and exceed clients’ expectations,” he added.
